How to fill in the sheets

Every cell has the same four guide lines. Where a letter touches them decides how it sits in the font.

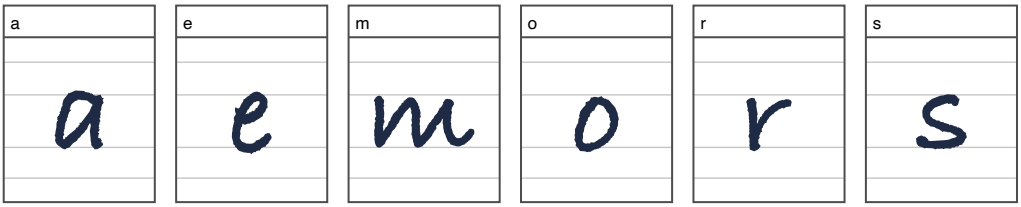

CAPITALS

Sit on ③, top touches ①. Q's tail may dip below ③.

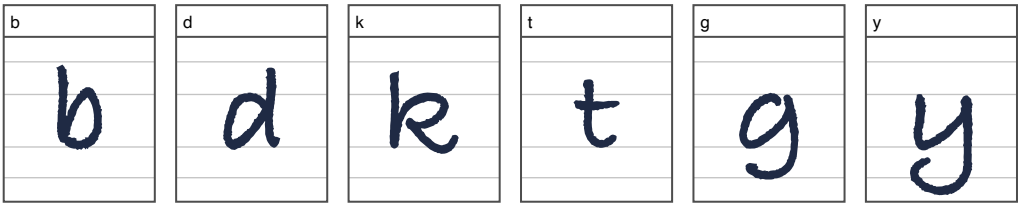

small letters

Sit on ③, top touches ②. Round letters (o, e) can poke just past the lines.

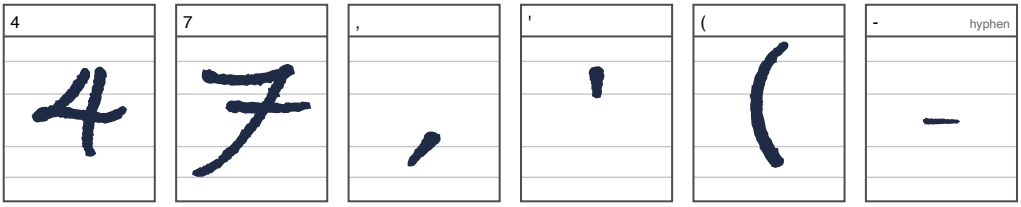

tall small letters & tails

Stems rise to ①, tails drop to ④. t is a bit shorter than the others.

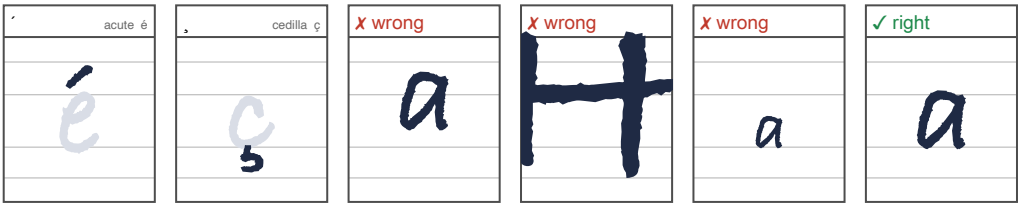

numbers & punctuation

Numbers = capital height. Comma dips under ③, apostrophe hangs from ①.

accents (sheet 2) · common mistakes

Write ONLY the accent, where it would sit over a small letter (grey e = imaginary). Then: wrong vs right.

acute (é) · cedilla (ç) · floating · too big · too small · on the line

Tips

Same pen for every sheet — dark gel or felt-tip, not ballpoint.

Write naturally, at your normal speed. Neat-but-you, not neat-but-stiff.

Keep sizes consistent across all 3 sheets.

Never touch the cell border — it gets clipped. Leave the strip under line ④ empty too.

Versions 2 & 3 (sheet 3) should differ a little, like they do when you write a sentence. Don't force them different.

Skip a cell? Leave it blank; it's fine.

Scan at 300 dpi, or shoot flat in daylight with all 4 corner markers visible.
